01 What is Total and permanent disability cover?

What's the benefit?

Total and permanent disability cover (called TPD for short), helps the business financially continue to operate despite the loss of a key person, shareholder or loan guarantor.

What does it do?

It pays a lump sum, payable to the policy owner, ensuring there are funds available to help repay business debts, protect the business against the loss of a key person, or allow other shareholders to buy out a share of the business.

When does it pay?

If the insured person becomes totally and permanently disabled through injury or illness.

Make sure it's right for your business.

TPD cover can help if you've got any of the following:

Key people who influence your revenue.

Business debts to pay.

Shareholders that need to be bought out.

A sole business owner to help with the costs associated with winding up the business

02 Key facts you should know.

Available on its own or as an advanced payment deducted from your Life cover.

You can apply aged 16-64.

You'll be asked to supply personal details about the insured person; like health and finance.

Max level of cover is $5m.

Choose how you want to pay; a set price for a fixed period-of-time or payments that increase each year.

You can pay fortnightly, monthly, quarterly, half-yearly or yearly.

03 Here's a snapshot of what's included.

✓ Two levels of payments –

1. The full lump sum will be paid if you are so disabled through injury or illness that you are unlikely ever to be able to perform the duties of your own or any other occupation.

An 'own occupation' definition is available for certain professional groups and has a higher premium.

We also have some non-occupation based definitions which are based around; activities of daily living, cognitive impairment, loss of sight or loss of limbs.

2. A partial benefit payment of up to $75,000 may be payable on the loss of use of a limb or sight in one eye.

✓ Increase your cover without additional medical checks – There are lots of business milestones that could prompt you to increase your cover. Examples are if a key person increases in value to the business, or if your financial interest in the business or loan guarantee increases. As your business changes, so can your cover. At times like these, you might be able to increase your cover without providing any additional medical information.

Financial planning benefit – If you receive a large lump sum payment it can be overwhelming to plan how to use these funds. In situations like this, working with a financial advice provider can be invaluable. If you were to receive a payment of $100,000 or more, we will reimburse the costs up to $2,500, for a fully documented financial plan prepared by a financial advice provider who can help plan your financial future.

04 Consider adding options to suit your business needs.

Here are some of the options you can add-on to your TPD cover that may require payment of an additional premium.

Inflation protection.

To help the amount of your TPD cover keep up with inflation, you can choose to have your sum insured increase by at least 2% each year without providing any medical information.

Increasing business cover.

While your cover includes an inbuilt benefit to provide some coverage for an increase in cover, this option allows you to increase your insurance by a higher amount as your business changes. You can do this before the age of 60 without needing to provide any medical information where the financial evidence supports it.

Waiver of premium.

Should you become disabled through illness and injury, and you have this cover, once you have waited through the waiting period, the premiums on your policy will be waived. This means that you do not pay for your cover. And any premiums that were paid during the wait period will be refunded.
